NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

FIGHTING THE CONCEALED POISON Strike at the source, not at the symptoms. Remember that symptoms are the evidence of nature's conflict with disease. They tell us that the symptom powers are fighting the concealed poison. Aid and reinforce them with the special restorative, Brisol's Sarsaparilla, and the system must be purified. No disorder, not of insanity, can resist such an alliance. The enemy is from within. Their agent will find it, and thence expel it. That done, the cough that indicates consumption, the sores that denote the presence of scrofula, the terrible suffering of body and mind which accompany a diseased stomach, and an unnatural condition of the bowels, disappear. This pure and potent vegetable and antiseptic tonic and alterative cleanses, regulates, and invigorates the whole internal organisation, and the cure is complete. By the use of Brisol's Sugar-coated pills at such time as the Sarsaparilla, the stomach and bowels will be cleansed and strengthened, and the disease more speedily thrown off. cj..116

ENGLISHMEN IN PATAGONES.

There is a small but thriving community of Englishmen in the Far South, of whom we hear so seldom that few people in B. Ayres know of their existence. One of them who has recently arrived in town gives so flattering an account of Patagones and the Rio Negro that new-comers can hardly do better, while casting about for a place of anchorage, than try this new and almost unknown locality. Not only is land offered free to settlers without capital, but Messrs. Aguirre and Murga make all advances for 12 months of provisions, implements &c., the only drawbacks being a scarcity of hands and the occasional risk of locusts. Our informant states that no Indians have been seen for two years, and that the English settlers are never molested, the only solitary case of outrage being an attempt, some time ago, to steal Messrs. Frazer's horses, which were, however, promptly recovered by Col. Bernal's troops.

The principal estancias are along the banks of the Negro, those on the north being English, on the south side native, situated at bends of the river, or 'rincones', up to nearly 30 leagues from the town of Carmen or Patagones. The river varies from 40 to 200 yards in width, the banks being lined with willows, and the current running about 5 miles an hour. It is navigable for steamers drawing 4 feet, all the year, as high as Choelechoel, 6 days journey up stream.

The furthest settlers are the four Welsh families who came hither five years since from Chupat, where their experience of the Indians was so friendly that they did not hesitate to settle, ten leagues beyond the frontier. They have been very prosperous, paying off the debts incurred for their new settlement and having now comfortable farms of their own. John Jones, with his wife and family, is the furthest out, more than 25 leagues from Patagones; he has 3,000 sheep, besides a patch of agriculture and some milch cows. Coming down the river, 2 leagues nearer town, we find the two Williams, who are brothers-in-law to the Rev. Dr. Humble; and another league lower is Price, who has a flock of sheep and some tilled land. These 4 families make butter and cheese, which they send by Kincaid's spring-cart to Patagones, where the retail price of butter is 12$ mjc. or two shillings per lb.

The fine estancia of Balcleuther belongs to Messrs. Kincaid, the first English settlers on the Rio Negro, who came hither in 1866 with sheep from Azul, and may be considered the founders of this thriving little colony. The estancia house is azotea, brick built, like an English farm-house, with all the appointments of farm-sheds, Howard's machinery, corrals made of willow and poplar, and some 7,000 sheep. Farm-lots on the estancia, which is two square leagues or 13,000 acres in extent, are held by Captain McGregor (late 93rd Highlanders), the brothers Buckland, Mr. Adamson and a Welsh family named Wilson, whose wheat crops this year will make up an aggregate of 600 fanegas. Some of these tenants are only 3 years established here.

Messrs. Kincaid's house is about 18 leagues from the town, at a bend of the river, and on the opposite or south bank they have a Pulperia or camp-store for Indian trade; this is in charge of the Cacique Hernandez, who has an Indian family around him and keeps two boats for crossing over to the estancia, the river being here about 200 yards wide. The Indians come at intervals during nine months of the year, to barter their skins, the other three months being their hunting season. It is prohibited by Government for two tribes to come at once, lest a quarrel should ensue. A post of observation called Guardia Conesa, garrisoned by 10 men, is kept beyond Mr. John Jones's farm. Mr. Kincaid's brother, who is now home in Scotland, is believed to have some idea of building a steamer to trade up and down the Negro, as it is too rapid for the farmers to go to and from town in their boats. The land traffic is at present done by carts, which charge 600$ (£5 sterling) each trip, say 20 leagues. Even at this price it will be difficult this year to obtain carts and peons to bring the wheat to market, as the English have the heaviest crop yet known, fully 4,000 bushels. They are likely to obtain a high price as the locusts have eaten up all the garden produce and wheat about Patagones, although they have not been seen high up the river. Farm-laborers can always earn 400$ per month, besides board, but they are so scarce that many settlers are glad to do with tame Indians or gauchos, and on some farms one-fourth of the crop has been lost for want of hands.

The estancia of Messrs. Frazer, Greenstreet and Grenfell is 3 leagues nearer town than that of Kincaid. Mr. Frazer is an Irish gentleman, who served as a lieutenant in the British army, and settled here shortly after Kincaid, investing a couple of thousand pounds in sheep and land. The estancia San Andres, as it is called, covers two square leagues and is stocked with 8,000 sheep, besides having a wheat-farm that yields some 1,500 bushels. It is little over 4 hours ride from town, and 2 leagues inside the fort of Captain Moreno, who has a garrison of 40 men. Messrs. Frazer and Co. keep about a dozen men always employed, and have a fine azotea house, with a boat for crossing the river, which is here 200 yards wide, fringed with willow, and the shore covered with pebbles.

Some Italians do a brisk business in rafts of willow and poplar, which they float down to Patagones (15 leagues) to sell for firewood and building purposes: they vary in value from $1,000 to $3,000 each.

On the south bank of the R. Negro, about 9 leagues from town, is the estancia of two Caciques named Miguel and Manuel Linares, the former a colonel in the Argentine service, who has 100 Indians at his call to repel any inroad of marauders: this place is called San Gabriel, and the men raise much wheat. They are nominally Christians, and have their children baptized.

Four leagues lower, and in sight of the town, is the estancia of Alejo Garcia, who has 6,000 sheep and 2,000 horned cattle, besides some tillage. The farm of Benito Crespo, also on the south side, is only 3 leagues from town, and counts about 4,000 sheep. Even at these native estancias you find English winnowers and like machinery. As a sign of the progress in this respect we may state that Aguirre and Murga, whose pasture and tillage farms are scattered over 40 leagues, have 20 English treshing-machines.

Aguirre and Murga are the great people of the place, and give sheep and land to any sober new-comers entirely on trust, expecting them in return to deal at their camp-stores. They own also the steamer which plies to Buenos Ayres, have the concession for working the Salinas and constructing a railway thither, and their saladero has produce to load 3 or 4 ships every month. Mr. Hume and the other engineers began the surveys last November for the line to Salinas.

This railway will traverse 40 miles of level camp, on the north side of the river, almost uninhabited, as far as the Salinas. Mr. Hume, who is brother to the gentleman of that name engaged in the construction of the Calle Santa Fe brewery near B. Ayres, expects to complete the surveys this month. There is some probability of running a branch line to Bahia San Blas, 20 leagues north, or about midway between Bahia Blanca and Patagones, so as to avoid the Patagones bar, which sometimes delays vessels a week. There is a Scotch settler, named Sinclair, at San Blas, who came here two years ago from the South side and has 16,000 sheep. There are also some native estancieros.

The export of salt from Patagones varies from 100 to 500 tons monthly, chiefly for B. Ayres and Rio Grande. When the railway is made the trade will increase. At present Aguirre and Murga keep 2 chatas of 16 tons each and a schooner of 50 tons, making trips every other day to Salina Chica, 6 leagues up from the town. A bag of 150 lbs. salt costs in Patagones 4$ mjc. or 8 pence English.

Don Domingo Oro's mill, a league nearer than Salina Chica, is unable to grind enough flour for local wants. Most of the wheat is bought by Aguirre and others, who ship it to B. Ayres. Don Domingo is a near relative of President Sarmiento, and was dug alive out of the Mendoza ruins two days after the earthquake of March, 1860. His mill is on the north side, the river separating it from Alejo Garcia's estancia.

The town of Carmen or Patagones, at the mouth of the Negro, is so healthy that no doctor could get a living. The English clergyman, Rev. Mr. Humble, is also M.D., but has no practise. People only die of old age, even small-pox being unknown. The only marriage yet performed in the English chapel was that of Mr. Holmes, last year. A corner of the native cemetery is set apart for English, and here you may count 19 graves, mostly sailors accidentally drowned, the only remarkable one being that of Mrs. Stirling, who died in the bloom of youth, wife of Bishop Stirling, for some time missionary resident. Our informant speaks highly of the local priests, both Spaniards, who marry and christen poor people free of charge, and are much esteemed by the neighbours.

There are but four English families, viz. Rev. Dr. Humble, wife and children; Mr. John Holmes (war-steamer Rio Negro) and wife; W. Humphreys, Welsh carpenter, wife and 4 children, and a Welsh boatman named Solomon with his wife and son.

The shop of Mr. Bang, a German, is the Foreign Club of the place, and Mr. Bang keeps two vessels trading direct here from Hamburg, making 2 trips every year, which enables him to sell goods as as cheap as in B. Ayres.

Another English resort is the inn of mine host Bartolo Barolero, a worthy Italian, at whose house all new comers should put up. The charge is 35$ mjc per day, including English spoken, and capital accommodation.

Colonel Bernal, the Comandante, is most friendly to Englishmen, and Mr. Atkins will also give them any assistance in his power. The fare from Buenos Ayres by sailing-vessel is 500$; by steamer 800$ mjc. first-class, the latter making the trip in 4 days. The mail-coach from Las Flores, on the Southern Railway, takes the same time.

Before concluding these remarks we may observe that it is a great pity somebody does not project a joint-stock company for farming the beautiful island of Choelechoel, 6 days by steamer from Patagones, up the Rio Negro. Last April the National Government sent a steamer to explore, which ascended 390 miles, or 30 miles higher than any previous expedition, and the party reported this island to be 60 miles long, with an average width of seven miles, the soil exceedingly rich, the woods in clumps on all sides, affording shelter to abundance of deer and ostriches. It was in descending the Rio Negro, in quest of this island, that the explorer Cox had his india-rubber boats capsized and was luckily taken by the Indians: his india-rubber life-belt was afterwards sold in Patagones, where it is still shown. If Mr. Kincaid bring out a steamer of 4 feet draught for the Rio Negro, we may soon expect to see a settlement at Chollechoel, where 20 well armed Englishmen would have little to fear from Indians.

LATEST FROM PARAGUAY.

January 14th.

Dear STANDARD,

The very latest from Paraguay, like all the very latests, is news for your readers. The state of Paraguay is awfully jolly and delicious. The Government is much loved—by itself. The country is as nearly ruined as it can be. The revolutionary party are hard at work attempting to dethrone the present monopoly of power. Power here means to say, you fill your pockets, my boy, as soon as you can, and then — skedaddle. Nevertheless, it would appear that the powers that be have not filled quite enough, even with the big loan that English speculators were unwise enough to make them, and therefore they are entrenching themselves in the centre of that noble capital yclept Asuncion. All round the Plaza of the Government-house, and all the streets that lead from it, there are barricades either built or in course of construction, and soon the peaceful inhabitants of that 'dulce far niente' may hope to be awakened from their slumbers by the deep boom of the murderous cannon and the sharp crack of the rifle. What fun it will be, oh STANDARD! what fun for those who have not to suffer by it! Alas! sackcloth and ashes for many, and the poor Gringos will not get off scot-free, unless yours truly is happily mistaken in his opinion of things as they will be.

On the 6th instant news arrived that the revolutionary party had got to Villa Pilar (60 leagues distant) with four steamers and a large armament; two days after their proclamation was to be seen in Asuncion. Thereupon the government came out with their killing no murder counteract, and since then all is excitement and 'bolas.' That the rebels have a good armament appears to be without doubt; that they will know how to use it is another affair. Time, which is money in the civil negotiations of life, is something more than that in questions like the present, and it does not appear to have been made all the use of that it might have been by the outsiders. Had they proclaimed less, and acted only once, "and at once" with a few men, the whole affair would have been over as soon as launched, for the entire country is in favour of Caballero, believing him to be a second Lopez for patriotism, without the cruelties of which Dn. Solano was guilty. I, although rather incredulous, think that he might prove to be somewhat better than the present lot, but that he will save Paraguay. No! not a bit of it. That would require a French saviour of society—a myth which it is at times pleasant to talk about, but occurs as a curiosity only every now and then in this stupid world.

Let us look quietly, my dear STANDARD, at this little affair called Paraguay, and I am much afraid that we will find in it the germ of an awful rumpus which must take place, and that soon. Out of it went that "little fellow," as we called him—Rivarola, who caused such a rumpus as millions of such clowns are not worth; and out of that, "quien sabe" what will yet come? Food for powder, my dear boy. There will be fun in Asuncion when the fighting has commenced, as Caballero has handed the command of his army over to General Serrano, a great fire eater; and then come the complications between the generals and the consuls, the ministers and the government, "et hoc genus omne."

The Argentine army at present in Asuncion consists of 25 or 30 men to act as a guard of—I know not what. One of the cannons planted by the Government people will sweep directly in front of the Comandancia Augusta, and of the Brazilian barracks near Plaza San Francisco, but just in front of the barracks it must inevitably strike a row of pleasant dwelling houses. Fun for the inhabitants, as the street has many turns.

The Paraguayans are pretty well determined to gain their liberty by killing each other, as their wrath must have some safety-valve, and they feel themselves incompetent to fight the allies, though some have declared themselves willing to fight either party alone. This is bravado, as there are but few men in Paraguay at present, and those few do not excel in either moral worth or physical valor, although endowed with great powers of endurance, and writhing under the sense of being a conquered people; those few who feel the sentiments of patriotism strive against the spell, but in vain.

Irasque Iconum,

I am somewhat Byronic in my sentiments, in so far as I like to see the sons of heroes fight for their liberty; but in the case of Paraguay there has been more forced than voluntary heroism, and although a Paraguayan of to-day may consider himself to be

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Potosi's news was wired up early yesterday morning, and is rather interesting. The Carlists are again going down in Spain, and have been defeated by the Republicans in several skirmishes. Another filibustering steamer, the Santiago, has been more successful than the Virginius on the coast of Cuba. She landed all her men and ammunition, and the expedition was scarcely on shore when the Cuban rebels fell on a body of 500 Spaniards and massacred 200 of them. This Santiago business will probably lead to fresh complications between Madrid and Washington. King Koffi, the Ashantee, is reported dead, and the venerable Emperor of Germany is seriously ill with bronchitis, a most dangerous complaint at his years. Ex-Queen Isabella has visited Marshal MacMahon, probably to sound his views as to what chance the Prince of the Asturias has of coming to his own (or any one else's) again. The fall in corned hides has cornered our hide men. Anything is better than leather just now. It is hard to say when the Potosi's papers will be up. The telegrams say nothing about Tichborne, or the expected duel between Chief Justice Cockburn and Dr. Kenealy.

The German Singing Club afford their friends a treat this evening at the Coliseum in the shape of a vocal and instrumental concert, the programme of which promises a delightful 'rato' to those fortunate enough to hold tickets. The Germans are at the top of the musical wheel here, and it is a privilege to attend their reunions.

We publish in another column an interesting letter from Asuncion. Things up there seem in a lamentably shaky state; and it is as plain as a pikestaff that the country is going to the dogs as fast as it can. The whole country is said to be in favour of Caballero, yet there is a rumour that his first 'coup' was unsuccessful.

The Gale on Wednesday did more harm than people wot of. The scene along the lower road to Belgrano was such as has not been witnessed for twenty years. Parties who had driven out to Belgrano in the forenoon, when returning at three o'clock found the water up to the horses' girths in some places. Mr. Wilcken's emigrants at Palermo suffered a little and had to shift their ground, to avoid touching bottom. The effect of the waves dashing round and over the trees near the bank of the river was very fine. Some washerwomen had narrow escapes. The new baths just erected at the foot of Calle Corrientes were swept up town and into oblivion. The proprietor seems to have forgotten that the estuary of the Plate can be mighty angry and dangerous when it likes. Floating baths well anchored, such as those on the Seine in Paris, are the only ones that will answer on our uncertain river. The fruit crop of the season has been swept clean away by the storm.

The New York papers of November 14th give long and minute accounts of the attempt by the Guerrts to murder President Sarmiento.

A truly appalling discovery has just been made, to the effect that it is now quite common for American mineral oil-refiners and brokers to sell large quantities of petroleum to champagne-makers. The 'stuff' is said to be sweetened with glycerine, as sugar does not answer, aërated by a soda-water machine, and sold for ball-room consumption. It produces terrible headache.

A rumour was current yesterday that the port of Montevideo will shortly be opened to vessels from Buenos Ayres, as the cholera is disappearing so fast. Good news this.

We are requested to state that the Irish Convent Schools will not be re-opened at present, in consequence of the epidemic. Due notice will be given of the resumption of business.

The Ville de Santos has brought out 150 passengers, emigrants we suppose, and more grist for the mill.

An advertizement putting the public on its guard against mining news from Corrientes will be found in another column.

Can any of our contemporaries or subscribers inform us if Buenos Ayres boasted of any newspaper in the year of grace 1774? The New York papers are just now supplying their readers with interesting matter in reference to that period. This fair city must have been a rum spot a century ago, when Spanish viceroys and their courtiers ruled the roast. 'Quien sabe' if it was not quite as pleasant to live in then as now, when telegraphs, too many steamers and newspapers, tramways, railways and the slap-dash worry that accompanies the march of Civilization keep everyone at high pressure from morn till night.

Hon. Benjamin F Butler says that the purchasing power of a dollar is less now than in the days of George Washington. We think not. Now-a-days you can buy an average Congressman for $5,000 (witness the back-pay grab), and they have ruled as low as $325. You couldn't have bought one in G. W.'s time for any price.

We are glad to hear that Major Diaz, who had his arm amputated on account of it having been shattered by a rifle ball, is up and doing well. The accident happened while in pursuit of some boats carrying arms to Lopez Jordan; in the hurry of the moment, handing the rifles to his men, one of them struck against the bulwarks of the steamer, and off it went. The Major is the officer who previously captured a number of other boats, also loaded with arms for the rebels in E. Rios, and we trust that President Sarmiento will recognise his services by advancing him in rank, thus stimulating others to follow with activity the example of their colleague—barring the amputation.

We have Asuncion papers to the 10th instant, but there is precious little in them. Intense alarm prevails there lest cholera be imported from Buenos Ayres. The fear is well founded, as the Republica says the Paraguayan capital was never in so filthy a state, and this is saying a good deal in the way of dirt. Very little is thought or said about Caraballo and his revolutionists: barricades are being put up in the streets.

We publish in another column an interesting article from the Times, on Italian emigration to the Plate.

Some few evenings ago an affair which reflects very great discredit on the police in general, and on the agent employed in particular, took place at the Cafe Colon. A respectable looking individual having "bien diné," called for dessert, and was given biscuits, cream, etc. He asked for fruit, but the waiter reminded him of the Municipal prohibition against selling it; the customer begged so hard, however, for even two 'duraznos' that the popular 'patron,' Don Jose, consented to give them. The next morning a 'vigilante' presented a $500 mjc. 'multa' to the proprietor for having sold fruit. The guest of the previous evening was a Police agent!! Now, Mr. Chief of Police we appeal to you as an honourable and distinguished countryman, is this sort of thing right? or is it not rather shabby and scandalous to the last degree? It would be mean enough if the fruit had been offered in contravention of the law, but to send a spy into a highly respectable cafe, to implore for fruit so as to involve the proprietor in a fine, is a scurvy, contemptible trick that even Vidocq or King Bomba's 'sbirri' would disdain. We feel certain that the Chief of Police knows nothing of such sneaking zeal on the part of his subordinates, and that he will not allow the trick to be repeated.

During the recent 'season,' a little knot of ladies were discussing the subject of marriage. One of the party, a single young lady, said, "Matches are made in heaven." "Very likely," was the quiet rejoinder of a married lady, "and they are often dipped in the other place."

The Rain on Tuesday in the Western camps was pretty heavy and general. It was badly wanted in many quarters, particularly in Lujan and other places where the Drought had made such sad ravages.

We call the attention of that too extensive section of the Public with bad and indifferent teeth to the advertizement in another column by Messrs. Webster, Prince and Kimball, the eminent dental surgeons. Mr. Webster has gone for a trip to the States, but he leaves partners equally able behind him, so toothache needs be a thing unknown to the patrons of this well-known firm. We never have a toothache by any chance, though sometimes threatened with neuralgia when news is scarce.

One of the saddest accidents caused by the storm on Wednesday was the foundering of a schooner filled to the hatchways with 500,000 fresh buttered eggs from the Santa Fe colonies. She went down off the Mole. The fishes must have had rare feasting.

Dr. Burmeister has presented an interesting report to Government on the progress of the Museum during the past year. Of birds and insects the collections have greatly increased. A large exchange of skins of birds and beasts of each country has been made with the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Most of the new insect specimens were purchased in Paris. The Museum also received during the year several valuable presents from private individuals. Important additions have also been made to the library of the Museum, 278 volumes having been added to it during the year. The report is most satisfactory, and proves that the Museum is in distinguished hands.

Splendid news. It was very generally said yesterday that the Directors of the Provincial Bank have resolved to celebrate the opening of their new building with a magnificent banquet to which all the leading bankers, brokers, merchants and editors of the city will be bidden. We are truly glad to hear this. In England we begin every great undertaking with a feed, and the system works well. We are glad to hear of its adoption here by the first and foremost of our institutions.

A young English nobleman, visiting at Gordon Castle, had boasted that during his six weeks' shooting in the North he had acquired so much Scotch that it was impossible to puzzle him. The beautiful duchess of Gordon took up his challenge, and defied him to interpret the sentence: "Come, pree my mou', my canty callant." It was with intense chagrin that he afterwards learned what a chance he had lost by his ignorance.

Although the cholera is leaving us, slowly but surely, those entrusted with the task of looking after the public health are still 'cholera mad.' If a peon is found in a 'drunken sleep on the 'pavè,' he has cholera, and off he is whisked to a lazzaretto. If an humble man or woman has a pain in the toe, or the head, in come the Salubrity men, and the victim is borne off to San Roque. We see several cases of this kind alluded to in the papers. 'It is better to err on the right side,' is a proverb more consoling to the Salubrity gentlemen than to the victims of their excessive zeal.

'On dit' that Colonel Ayala, who rendered such important services during the recent scrimmage in E. Rios, is marked out for promotion as a General when Congress meets next year. The gallant Colonel deserves the step.

ITALIANS IN SOUTH AMERICA

(From the 'Times' Correspondent.)

Rome, Nov. 27.

A constant stream of emigration, chiefly to those South American regions of the Plate, has set in for some time from various parts of Italy, and lately from districts of the Two Sicilies. The Press throughout Italy has taken some alarm at this new phenomenon; some of the journals belonging to the advanced Liberal Party take the Government to task as responsible for the movement, and urge upon it measures intended to check it. "The natives of this country," they reason, "as well as most strangers, think Italy, and especially the South of the Peninsula, a paradise upon earth; a region where simply to live is to enjoy, and where the mere air and sky and fruitful soil so reconcile man to the ills that flesh is heir to as to make him shrink from any change of abode; from any temporary change, as well as from the final and inevitable." Something very new and hardly conceivable, they insist, must have come upon Neapolitans and Sicilians to send them forth in quest of such distant homes, and the causes, in their opinion, must be sought in the general distress of their country, in the heavy taxation, and in the severity of the new system of military duty. They balance the good and evil of their condition, and aware of the existence of other reasons where it may be possible to better it, they shake off the inertia which so long rooted them to the soil, and give in to the seductions of the competence, the security, and the true Republican liberty which in their conceit await them beyond seas.

Most undoubtedly Italy is in no need of emigration. Were every man in his proper place there would certainly be work and bread and comfort and culture for twice the present population. But society in this, as in all other countries, organizes itself in obedience to instincts and circumstances, over which both Government and opinion exercise at the utmost a very limited control. Immigration is nothing new in Italy. This country was in old times remarkable for its colonizing powers; and so long as the Mediterranean was the centre of the globe, Italy reigned commercially all along its coasts, and established those factories in Asia Minor, in Egypt, and North Africa, which are even now rising to new importance. The whole of Italy is not fertile, at least not all equally fertile, and the inhabitants of the mountainous districts have at all times either periodically come down to the plain to drain and till Tuscan, Roman and Corsican marshes, or wandered abroad, some of them as clever and thrifty artisans, some as little better than vagrants, itinerant musicians, vendors of plaster casts &c. In all these wanderings of the Italian race, however, some peculiarities of character have been almost invariably observed. The Italians had, since the Middle Ages, no settlement of their own to go to. The love of adventure and spirit of enterprise which distinguished the countrymen of Marco Polo and Christopher Columbus were discountenanced by centuries of improvident misrule. All travelling was at an end; the great colonies planted by the English beyond the Atlantic and the Pacific were not only unknown, but almost unreal regions to the imagination of the people of this country.

The emancipation and unification of the country could not fail to create a new spirit among the people. They began to feel their importance at home and abroad. Where a few years ago there were petty bodies of Sardinian Sicilian, Tuscan, Roman, and Austro-Venetian settlers, as in Pera or Galata in Tunis or Algiers, in Egypt or Uruguay, there are now considerable Italian colonies. The Italian has a flag, a national representation. There is nothing to prevent his feeling himself at home in any quarter of the globe. Nay, the recollection of the debt mankind owes to his race for its ancient civilizing influences, has won him the sympathy of foreign nations and insures him a welcome even among people to whom his name till lately hardly conveyed any distinct meaning and to whom his flag was as yet altogether unfamiliar.

Uruguay and Buenos Ayres may almost be considered Italian colonies. The trade and industry of those States are monopolized by old Italian settlers, and the new arrivals are welcomed by men who address them in their own language, and whose habits, views, interests, and aspirations are identic with their own.

Independently of the hardships and sufferings inflicted upon the population of Italy, and especially the southern districts, by the inclemencies of the season, by bad harvests, inundations, epidemics, earthquakes, and other calamities, and possibly by the blunders of a still faulty administration, mere curiosity and love of change, sanguine hopes and restless ambition, may contribute to determine the exodus of Italian emigrants. It is not, perhaps, so much pinching poverty at home as the prospect of boundless wealth abroad which urges them to the venture, and there may be mixed up with mere pecuniary considerations other motives, based on crude notions of democracy, the expectation that a millennium of political and social equality, of unlimited liberty and peaceful fraternity may be their lot for the rest of their lives. Republicanism is now utterly impotent for good or evil in Italy itself; but a vague idolatry of the mere name, a fanatic longing for the bare form of that kind of government still lurks in the mind of those who least understand its meaning, or have any experience of its working. They have, as they are not unwilling to confess, a tolerably free Monarchy in their own country, but a "Republic" smiles upon them from beyond the Atlantic. And it is Garibaldi's own Republic; a Republic where no one either commands or obeys; where military service is imposed on no man.

Little call as there may be for any emigration from Italy, it seems natural to agree with those who say that the movement must be productive rather of good than evil. The Italian nation has been too long shut up within is own boundaries; it is full time that it should break bounds; that it should aspire to knowledge and development; that it should shake off old prejudices and set a proper value on new-fangled delusions. There is a certain sloth and indifference among Italians in easy circumstances which sets them against travel as against an intolerable exertion. The notion that their country is all it should be, that it is what no other country can ever hope to be, seems to convince them of the needlessness of all locomotion. 'Chi sta bene non si muova' is their saying, and they forget that instruction can be as much the object of a journey as enjoyment, and that learning is worth pursuing even at the expense of a little discomfort. Hitherto travelling, at least on a large scale, was only imposed upon those Italians who wandered abroad as political exiles. However, it will be, here as elsewhere, want and love of gain, enterprise or ambition, which will stimulate the roaming instincts of the race. Emigration well directed can be morally and materially advantageous both to those who go and to those who are left behind. It seems impossible not to look upon those shiploads of Italian emigrants sailing from Genoa or Naples otherwise than as a symptom of that new intellectual and physical activity which the elevation of the country to higher destinies could not fail to develop. The example of all ages and countries ought to satisfy us that it is only in prosperous communities that the need of relieving themselves of their surplus population is usually felt. In Italy, to all appearance, there ought to be no excess at least of country labourers; but in all these matters it is desirable to leave men to the guidance of their own instincts and to allow things to find their own level. There must be free trade in men as in all other commodities.

THE BOLSA MEETING.

To the Editors of the STANDARD.

Gentlemen,

I find in to-day's paper complimentary remarks on River Plate progress in connection with the first telegram from Para to Rio and the expected opening of the line to Chuy.

Could you tell me whether the Bolsa Committee have taken any steps towards receiving direct messages as soon as the latter event takes place?

To-morrow there being a meeting of the shareholders of said establishment, it would be useful to call attention to this fact, and also to recommend care in the selection of the proper person, avoiding one like the present correspondent of the Bolsa, who fills his telegrams with such platitudes as: "Esperando paquete;" "gran contento;" "nada de nuevo."

I enclose a card, and remain,

Yours truly,

SUBSCRIBER.

The stock market ruled quiet but firm to-day. Cedulas showed a slight improvement on yesterday's rates, but they came so freely offered for end of month that the rate gave way and closed the same as yesterday.

It seems there was an error in yesterday's telegram from Havre per Moreno announcing the bank rate down to 4, as the Club telegram to-day gave the bank rate still at 4½. Money in the open London market ruled at 4 per cent.

The news from Antwerp about wool is rather better than the advices yesterday from Havre. Wools keep looking up in Antwerp, and the markets here to-day looked more active.

The very sudden death of Mr. P. Moore, of the firm of McLean and Moore, Calle Cangallo, was much spoken of. Mr. Moore had but recently entered business, and is cut off at the early age of 7, of disease of the heart. The funeral, which took place this afternoon, was largely attended.

The new importing and exporting firm of Bernheim, Walls & Co. is announced. Mr. Walls is editor of the French newspaper published in this city.

At 2 o'clock to-day it was announced that the Ibis had entered and anchored. Mr. Sattier, of the firm of Scharffenorth and Sattier, was alongside in an instant, and as mails from Montevideo were expected by her, there was a constant run to know if he had landed; but as up to 5 o'clock there was no sign of Sattier, a very classical broker repeated the oracle—

Ibis,

5,000 salted ox hides, from Magdalen, Silges and Ferrando, sold to-day. Price and buyer unknown.

The sales to day were as follows—

Exchange ruled at 5,⅜6 on Antwerp and 49 on England, bill's offering at this rate.

Don Juan Martin Estrada has been named by the Government director of the Banco Hipotecario.

In saladero business nothing done A cargo of hides offering here at 49½ rls. No buyers.

During the storm yesterday the Swedish brig Homan was dragged on to by the Kate McDonald, causing much damage to the Swede.

The British barque Herbert Black, is ashore off San Fernando; she has a cargo of materials for the Gas Co.

The Argentine War Steamer Rio Negro leaves to-morrow for Patagonia, Col. Bernal in command.

Money ruled very easy to-day, trade bills enquired for; money offering on stocks but no disposition to take any at present rates. It is stated that within the last 2 weeks some 250,000 pats in Cedulas have been Amortized in Mortgage Bank.

The telegrams per Potosi came up this morning hot and fast, but the message with the news of the loan and the scrip at a premium was the most grateful news for the Bolsa. The Buenos Ayres loan, to all appearances, could not have been a greater success. The business was done in a few hours, and the scrip at a premium. This is most flattering, and an English broker of much experience, when he read the telegram on 'Change, hazarded the opinion that in a couple of months it would be at 5 per cent premium, and we believe him. The credit of Buenos Ayres on the London Stock Exchange, thanks to the honorable arrangements made years ago by Mr. Riestra, and the subsequent scrupulous punctuality of the Government in meeting its engagements, is now second to none on the London market. We are glad to say that we have also favorable advices respecting the Rosario Railway; the business will be done at once, and the works commenced possibly in a month.

Another news item is the very satisfactory arrangement the Argentine Tramway Co. has made with the National Tramway Co. to run over its line in Calle Potosi, which will remove all the causes of delay which hitherto were so much complained of. The Flores tramway, which now does such a gigantic traffic, will be better able to meet the demand; it will leave town, running along Rivadavia and enter the city turning into Victoria near the Once, along Victoria until within a square of Lacrosse, and then turn into Potosi, thence to Balcarce and round into the Plaza. Mr. Billinghurst arranged the whole business in London.

A small supplemental mail for Boyne was made up to-day; we forwarded our daily paper to our subscribers abroad; it is always a day later.

The flood tide in the river yesterday did little damage to the shipping, although both the railways suffered and the new waterworks also suffered; the tunnelling works for the city improvements we believe also, these works were stopped by the Municipality about 9 days ago, as however the health of the city shows well we may soon look for their resumption.

There was joy in Montevideo to-day at the news of the cholera declining so fast in this city, and it is hinted as probable that be ore many days are about the port of Montevideo will be opened again with a slight quarantine. Indeed from our advices from the sister city it would seem they had just about as much cholera there as here, only there was not so much said about it. All over the north camps of Buenos Ayres, we learn from the Rev. J. B. Leahy, Irish chaplain of Carmen de Areco, there has been for the last two months much sickness of a "colerina nature;" it has now passed, and everything looks well outside.

The news for hides by this mail is certainly not the thing, and the hide market here would, doubtless, reflect the foreign market but that the arrivals are so small. Farmers have had the good sense to stand back awhile and stop remitting; the result is that there is but a handfull of wool in. The total arrivals of new clip are put down at 2,800,000 arrobes, and the stock about 300,000 do. There is much uncertainty about the future of the staple, and some parties who bought outside had better realize in time to cover. Nevertheless, the news from Antwerp, per Potosi, shows better, and wool is the only River Plate produce that keeps up.

The sale of some unwashed Cordova wool at Rosario is reported at 23 to 25 reales, and not much coming forward.

The news about salted hides has frightened even the saladeristas, and we have to learn now that the faena this year will be so checked by the fall in price that it will show an immense falling off: this, however, we doubt. The business has certainly got a check, which will retard the faena, but the real parties who must lose are the estancieros, as present prices for hacienda cannot be paid. We published the other day the sale of 10,0 0 animals for saladero, from the Dorrego estancias, and people at the time thought the price low and the stock a bargain; but the mail news to-day shows otherwise. The business was a good one for the estancieros. Light hides for the States have been in demand here for the last fortnight, and a fair export business doing in that line at 170-175 m/c for this province, 163-165 for matadero, and 153 rls. for Entre Rios hide-cuttings, have fallen off and show a stiff fall in this market: the demand is trifling. In horse hair prices also look downward; some of the large lots have been shipped for owners' account. Good South is quoted at 155-165; North, 140-150; Rivers, 40-42 rls.

The news we have from the south about the crops is not altogether the thing. It appears that a large tract of country was under tillage the previous year, but the crop was light, the frosts and locusts having done much damage. In consequence there was less wheat sown this year, possibly not a fifth part of what was sown the previous year. The crop at Azul is estimated by our colleague down there at 6000 fanegas, and has proved a splendid crop, and safe from frosts and locusts, but somewhat exposed to damage by the wet weather, the rains being constant. Nearly all the Azul wheat farmers are Italians, and the European plan of harvesting the crop is recommended to be introduced as far safer in stacks than the present system in force.

The Estrella Insurance Company has declared a dividend of 9 50/100 patacons per share. This shows a good business, good administration, and good luck.

As there has been much said in this market of the large trade dry goods sales that take place at the end of each season, the following from the N. York market, received by the packet cannot fail to interest importers—

"The splendid sale of $6,000,000 worth of dry goods by H. B. Claflin and Co., advertised in the Times, opened yesterday at the Church-street establishment, and it is estimated that it was attended by 10,000 people. The average reduction of prices was twenty per cent., and much eagerness was manifested to make purchases. The salesmen were so busily occupied that many customers were disappointed. The sale, it is said, was the largest of the kind that was ever made in one day in this country, and created intense interest in business circles. The value of the goods as sold, it was estimated late in the afternoon, would fully reach the sum of $600,000.

"Messrs. Peake, Opdycke and Co. also conducted a very extensive special sale at greatly reduced prices, and another house opened, it is said, 500 cases of goods to be sold at very low prices, having notified its customers on Monday that it would do so. Except in these three establishments, the wholesale dry goods business here yesterday was generally quiet."

The best proof of the silent growth of Rosario is the little building item which we find in one of our colleagues—

New azotea houses built in 1873, 50; thatched houses, 23; and houses repaired, 15.

The Juzgado of Chivilcoy shows the following exports for December—

495 head horned cattle
740 horses
13 000 sheep
55,000 ar wool
5,460 ar grease
105 fan wheat
450 swine

Last night and this morning several large troops of carts with wool entered the Once. Business looked a little brisker this morning; some fine lots of wool, clean and free of 'carretilla,' sold at 80, but it must be very good wool to fetch this price. Wheat rules active and upward, and flour at the mills sold to-day at 35, being 2$ m/c. up this week.

To-day we had a visit from Don Palomon Huergo, President of the Western Railway, who, in answer to the letter in yesterday's STANDARD about the luggage, requests us to say that he has put 3 clerks into the luggage office, where formerly there was but one, to meet the extra demand: that passengers to book their luggage have to take their turn, and that probably our correspondent, unaware of this, ran backward and forward to the café, and thus missed his turn. We hear that it is probable the Western Railway for last year will give 10 per cent. on profits against 6½ formerly; this shows traffic and management. Don Palomon is the right man in the right place. The Wanklyn station goes up as soon as the double line is laid. Good news for Lambaré district.

The Bolsa meeting will come off to-morrow at 2 o'clock.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA AND CO.
101--Calle Cangallo--103
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maná & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the laudable example of their firm in Montevideo, the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maua & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P. P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM

CONDITIONS.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wish can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

IMPORTANT CAUTION—Ask for Rowland's Macassar Oil, and avoid all other cheap articles under the same or similar names as spurious imitations. Each bottle has a glass stopper instead of the cork as formerly. All with the cork are spurious imitations.

ROWLAND'S ODONTO, or Pearl Dentrifice, preserves and imparts a pearl-like whiteness to the teeth, eradicates tartar and spots of incipient decay, strengthens the gums, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath. Price 2s 9d. per box. Ask for "Rowland's Odonto."

ROWLAND'S ESSENCE of TYRE never fails to produce immediately a perfect change in red or grey hair, whiskers, eyebrows, &c., to a beautiful glossy and permanent brown or black, which colour remains so durable, that neither washing nor perspiration can remove it. Price 4s., 7s, 6d., and 10s. 6d., per bottle.

All these articles have been used and justly, appreciated by all the Sovereigns and Courts of Europe, the Pope of Rome, and the aristocracy of the world, during the last 70 years, being of inestimable value to those who have once used them.
